PRICE TWO CENTS

ASK THIS COUNTY TO TAKE MILLION

That is our Share of Liberty Bond Issue Declares Committee Chairman.

URGE ALL TO TAKE PART

Can Pay Dollar Down and Dollar a Week. Appeal Issued to Adams County Asking Quick Response.

The population and wealth of Adams County is such that the minimum quota of the new issue of government bonds assigned to the county is $1,000,000, declares Grier Hersh, chairman of the Liberty Bond campaign for York and Adams Counties. He continues:

This is a tremendous task, but as great as is the undertaking, we cannot and must not think of failure.

The United States Government, through its agents appointed in Adams County, is trying to borrow $1,000,000 from the people of Adams County. It offers 4 per cent interest. The security is of the highest standing in the world. There is absolutely no risk. It offers Liberty Bonds, payable absolutely in 25 years, but ten years to his children when they ask him what he did in this great war.

These bonds are absolutely free from the 4 mill state tax, and therefore net the purchaser four and four-tenths per cent.

This is what the Government is asking you to do as a patriotic duty—to buy, in order to assist it in the carrying on of this great war.

The raising of this money is a task in which the rich and the poor together must take an active interest. They are both sending their sons to France, and it is absolutely necessary to feed and clothe them there.

This means that there must at all times be a supreme sacrifice, and everyone must sacrifice to the limit of endurance. We must realize that our sons will soon be in the thick of the fight and we must do all we can to ameliorate their sufferings. If this means giving up pleasures and pastimes then we must give them up; and we wonder what the slacker will say to his children when they ask him what he did in this great war.

Remember, you are not asked to give your money, you are simply asked to put it temporarily into Uncle Sam's pocket—the safest depository in the world.

If you cannot pay for a bond immediately, you can arrange for slow payments at any bank in Adams County. A $50 bond can be bought by paying a dollar down and a dollar a week until paid for.

The Honorable S. McC. Swope has been appointed chairman of the Liberty Bond campaign for Adams County. This means that Judge Swope is really the agent of the United States Government, to borrow this $1,000,000 from the people of Adams County.

ANOTHER PEACE RUSE

No Hope to be Taken out of Naval Mutiny Story.

(By Telegraph)

Washington, Oct. 12.—Government officials here do not share the enthusiasm with which the American people have received news of the mutiny among sailors of the German Navy. Information from the Allies' capitals indicate that this news was given out largely for the purpose of raising in the United States further false peace hopes, and this dampening the war spirit.

INSURANCE DROPS

Further Indication that U-Boats Toll is Decreasing.

(By Telegraph)

Washington, Oct. 12.—A cut of 33 per cent on insurance rates on ships going through the submarine zone, announced to-day, is taken as a further indication that the U-boat is doing much less damage than in the past. The rate of three-fourths of one per cent, or 75 cents per $100, has been reduced to one-half of one per cent.

GIVES SUPPER ON 85TH BIRTHDAY

Celebrates Anniversary by being Host to Civil War Veterans. Good Time.

Rev. L. M. Gardner, of York Springs, finished the 85th year of his life on Wednesday and celebrated the event by inviting a number of his Grand Army friends to a birthday banquet.

Last year he celebrated the same event by having a number of his schoolmates of the Old Academy dine with him. This year he selected as his guests six Union soldiers, D. F. Stary, Frank Speelman, Hiram Albert, James A. Speelman, Sr., Henry Wickman and Henry Dahr. Each of the veterans was attired in uniform and wore the badge of the G. A. R. Mr. Gardner himself wore a bucktail badge on the lapel of his ministerial coat. For a number of years he has been the chaplain of the Bucktail Association.

The rooms at Meadow Hill were decorated with a profusion of Union flags, the most prominent of which was the family flag made by Mrs. Gardner and first displayed on the Fourth of July 1876.

The venerable minister and his soldier friends assembled around the dining room table and were served with refreshments consisting of bean soup, fried and scalloped oysters, cake and ice cream. The veterans and their host were all in a merry and reminiscent mood and recalled many experiences of the Civil War. The familiar national airs were played on a victrola and the old boys joined with their voices in the chorus.

Rev. L. M. Gardner's personal interest in the Union soldiers has never abated since the close of the Civil War and he has on every opportunity endeavored to show his regard for them. During the Civil War he was a member of the Christian Commission and was with the Army of the Potomac on its famous campaign through the Wilderness.

Again Aiming at Same Place in the German Line.

(By Cable)

London, Oct. 12.—British troops started forward to-day in the Flanders sea of slime and mud for the third drive in eight days. It is believed that the objective point is the same as that toward which all the other attacks have been directed. Since August first Field Marshal Haig's operations have resulted in depressing the German line for five miles.

CITY BOYS HERE TO PICK APPLES

Are Encamped in Orchard Belt where they are Helping to Do Big Job.

SENT BY SCHOOL HEADS

Orange Packers from Florida Arrive here to Assist. Fancy Fruit at Top Notch Prices.

To help our fruit growers harvest the great apple crop, two camps of forty eight school boys from Philadelphia are now established in the county. All are from Quaker City high schools and were selected with the greatest care. They have been excused from all class work during their stay which will be for two weeks or longer.

The boys are all sixteen years of age or older. One of their camps is near Flora Dale post office, and the other on Howard Walter's farm. In addition to the youths there is a leader and a cook for each camp.

They arrived on the scene at half past two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and early Thursday morning started to work—all but two of them who were needed for duties at the camp. All are eager for the apple picking for it is a great relief, after being confined to the city for months, to have the chance to be out in Adams County's beautiful hills and valleys.

They are thoroughly in earnest about their work, and are proving good hands. Many calls have been made for their assistance and farmers who do not reside close to them have arranged to convey the pickers between camp and orchards every day.

Persons wishing to make arrangements for their help may call the Flora Dale camp by way of the United Telephone, and the Walter camp by calling Howard Walter's residence and asking for the leader.

In addition to the work of picking fruit, two of the boys spent Thursday cutting corn and their work was found very satisfactory.

A large party of professional fruit packers have arrived at Biglerville and are assisting at the packing house there. The men make a business of this, starting early in the season by packing oranges in Florida, then going to Georgia to help with the peach crop, and then North for the apple season. They have come here in other seasons but never in such large numbers. Biglerville has its hands full giving accommodations to the outside help brought in. It is told that one woman has forty boarders, and another fifteen. Many houses have provided sleeping accommodations, and all are helping in whatever way possible to "do their bit".

It is Adams County's big year for the apple business. The crop is a complete failure in many of the big orchard regions of other states and our fruit has a ready market at prices which were only dreamed of before. York Imperials were sold during the general orchard buying season at $3.25 and $3.50 a barrel.

To the retail trade these apples are now quoted at $5.00 a barrel, while the same variety of apple of good size and color, but with some blemishes, is bringing $4.00. Fancy Staymans are quoted at $6.00—grown in Adams County and sold right here, while the boxed Staymans are quoted at from $2.25 to $3.25, the latter price for the large fruit bringing the price per apple to between five and six cents.

And that right here at home!

MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Creamery Company Placing New Machinery in their Plant.

The Hanover Creamery company has remodeled its creamery at New Oxford. New machinery has been installed and renovations made. A cooling coil, eight feet wide and six feet high, one of the newest improved machines for cooling milk, has been installed. It has a capacity of 1,500 pounds per hour. It is connected with a large vat, which is also used for cooling purposes. Two large cement basins 16 feet long and four and a half feet wide and two feet high, have also been built to store milk in hot weather. A water cooling system is connected with the basins. The creamery has been painted white on the interior, while the floors are of concrete. The creamery has also started to purchase the whole milk from farmers instead of separating it and returning part to the farmers. James Robinson is in charge of the plant.

ASKS DAMAGES IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Ten Thousand Dollars Asked from Reading Railroad for this Mishap.

Hearing of the first of a series of three actions against the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company for damages caused by the death of two women and the injury of the driver in an automobile accident at Grantham has been taken up by Common Pleas Court, in Cumberland County.

The action is by Cyrus A. Carbaugh, of Chambersburg, against the company and he asks $10,000 for the death of his wife. There are two suits by Daniel H. Wingert, of the same town, the one for the death of his wife and the other for injuries to himself. J. P. McKeehan, of Carlisle, and Daniel H. Wingert, of Chambersburg, represent the plaintiff, and J. W. Wetzel appears for the railroad.

D. H. Wingert, the driver of the car on the day of the accident, was the first witness called. He, with his wife and son, Mrs. Carbaugh and her daughter, were on their way to attend a session of the Messiah Bible School at Grantham and crossed the track at what is known as Long's crossing. The machine stuck in the road and in going back to get a fresh start the auto went on the tracks and was struck by the engine for a fast freight, instantly killing Mrs. Carbaugh and Mrs. Wingert.

He was questioned as to details of the accident. The party left Chambersburg about six o'clock on the morning of the day in question, arriving at Grantham at nine o'clock. He described his effort to reach the school which failed, he said, because of the poor condition of the road.

MONEY ARRIVES FOR SOLDIERS

Armed Express Messenger again Brings Funds to Gettysburg Camp.

DISTRIBUTE GREAT SUM

And Boys Immediately Prepare to Spend Major Portion of their Earnings. Busy Times now.

Once more three-quarters of a million dollars, guarded by an armed express messenger, has arrived in Gettysburg, and once more the 12,000 soldiers in the camp here are preparing to dispose of their past month's pay. The money arrived on Thursday evening and immediately preparations were made for distributing it among the troops.

For the past ten days the soldier boys have been looking forward to this day and their plans have been made accordingly. They had the date pretty well gauged and told merchants and other business houses just when to expect the rush which always follows the compensating of the troops.

Pay day is a real event in the camp. As each man receives his money he settles with his company or regimental exchange account, and then starts forth with his balance to dispose of it in one or more of the many ways that are dear to the soldier's heart. Unfortunately many of them find themselves with but a small portion of their month's pay coming to them.

When cash is low and pay day a week or more distant dozens of the boys sell their canteen orders for half or two-thirds of their value and then, when they receive their money, they find that they have paid enormous interest for the ready cash. Others buy various things at the exchanges and dispose of them at a mere fraction of their real value, with the same result.

With the paying of the soldiers the automobile business will leap. Trips to York, Hagerstown, Harrisburg, Frederick, Chambersburg, and Carlisle will be made by the scores. Many of the boys try to have their furloughs so given that they can leave right after receiving their pay and use this money for their trips home. Others spend it lavishly for gifts for their loved ones, and one of the most sought places is the jewelry store.

Men's outfitters are anticipating the usual grand rush for goods purchased, or left to be repaired, and for the next week Gettysburg will feel the full force of what pay day means at a big army post.

The banks have made preparations to handle the business and, though Columbus Day makes this a holiday, they will make provision for deposits this evening, it is understood. The post office will send thousands of dollars home for the boys by the money order route, and some of them—eluding the vigilance of officers—will take risky and exciting chances with the many forms of gambling that prove highly popular in camp life.

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAM

Columbus Day in Xavier Hall. York Choir is Coming.

The public will be given an opportunity to attend an entertaining and instructive programme which has been arranged for Xavier Hall this evening in commemoration of Columbus Day. Hon. Wm. McSherry, of Gettysburg, and Lieutenant Ward G. Mehan, chaplain of the 60th Infantry, will deliver addresses. An entertainment will be given for the soldiers in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church this evening.

REQUIRE HANOVER TO PAY DAMAGES

Open Ditch, though Decorated with Red Lights, Proves Costly to Borough.

Damages amounting to $200 were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Shultz, of Hanover, as the result of their suit against the borough of Hanover, brought to trial in York on Thursday. Mrs. Fietta Shultz, who sued for $5000, was awarded $150, and Mr. Shultz, who sued for $1000, was granted an award of $50.

The damages were claimed for personal injuries received by Mrs. Shultz in a fall into a ditch in front of property of Emory K. Eichelberger. The excavation was made by the borough engineer and employees under an agreement with Eichelberger, in order to lay a sewer lateral from his house to the main sewer in the street. Between six and seven o'clock, on the night of Nov. 16, 1916, Mrs. Shultz fell into the ditch leading from the Eichelberger dwelling house across the sidewalk to the street.

Mrs. Shultz said she saw a red light near the curb, which she claims did not furnish sufficient illumination for her to see the ditch in the footway, and as a consequence she fell into it.

The borough's witness testified that there were four red lights along the excavation, two outside the curb and two along the sidewalk.

Mrs. Shultz is 67 years old and said that she is unable to go out working as she did before the accident, thereby losing the money she had been accustomed to make in that way. Her own household, she says, is also unable to perform as formerly, and requires assistance from her sister and daughter.

FIVE HURT WHEN MULES ARE HIT

Automobile Party Thrown to Road in Odd Accident Near Abbottstown.

ONE JUMPS ON MACHINE

Woman Pinned under Car. Soon after this Accident, Gettysburg Soldiers Have Same Trouble.

In a collision with a drove of mules about two miles east of Abbottstown on the Lincoln Highway in the evening about 7:30 o'clock, a large touring car owned and driven by Frederick S. Bartschlagler, of Dallastown, was upset, injuring the five occupants of the car.

The worst injured was Mrs. Temperance Bortner, York, who was pinned beneath the car and had to be released by the other occupants, assisted by several soldiers who came upon the scene directly after the accident occurred.

The remaining members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Bartschlagler and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Adams, York. Mr. and Mrs. Bartschlagler were cut and bruised about the face. Mr. Adams had an injured hand, while Mrs. Adams' right hip was slightly contused. Although pinned beneath the car, which had to be raised up to release her, Mrs. Bortner is not seriously injured. She is bruised about the body and suffered mostly from shock.

She was taken to a nearby house and attended by Dr. T. C. Miller, of Abbottstown. The party was returning from the Hagerstown fair.

The accident occurred on a slight eminence in the roadway. The machine came upon the mules suddenly and before Mr. Bartschlagler was aware of what was happening he hit one of them. This had no more than occurred when the second one was hit. This one leaped on the top of the engine and for a moment looked as if it would plunge through the wind shield into the machine. Mr. Bartschlagler made a sudden turn to avoid a further collision, and as he hit a third mule the machine turned over and landed along the roadside.

While the above accident was occurring a touring car occupied by a number of soldiers from the Gettysburg cantonment also collided with one of the mules, but here only a headlight was broken and no one injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Bortner were taken to York by Arthur Geesey, of that city, while one of the cars bearing a party of soldiers took Mr. and Mrs. Bartschlagler with them.

None of the mules were injured.

LIBERTY LOAN IS FALLING BEHIND

Less than Seven Per Cent of Five Billion has been Subscribed.

HARD WORK NEEDED NOW

Less than Third of Billion Reported, Says Official Statement. Urges Small Investors.

Washington, Oct. 12—Less than seven per cent of the $5,000,000,000 which the government hopes to obtain in subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan had been subscribed at the close of business Wednesday night. Treasury officials made public the actual subscription figures Thursday. The total is $325,465,000. This figure includes every dollar reported to the reserve banks from every section of the United States. In one reserve district, Minneapolis, however, no figures were reported.

"The subscriptions indicate the necessity for the hardest kind of work on the part of the whole country for the balance of the campaign," reads the Treasury Department's announcement. The campaign is more than one-third gone. Fourteen working days remain.

Subscriptions by federal reserve districts were as follows:

Boston, $41,800,000; New York, $228,527,000; Philadelphia, $13,583,000; Richmond, $12,229,000; Cleveland, $1,895,000; Atlanta, $1,703,000; Chicago, $4,816,000; St. Louis, $1,729,000; Minneapolis, no report; Kansas City, $1,237,000; Dallas, $1,899,000; San Francisco, $16,047,000.

These figures represent the total of subscriptions, actually filed with the several federal reserve banks and the Treasury Department.

Hard Work Necessary

"While a very large number of incorporated banks and trust companies throughout the country have not yet reported any subscriptions to the Federal Reserve Banks," the statement continues, "and while the Liberty Loan committees have unofficially reported a number of large subscriptions which have not yet been formally filed, even making due allowance for these unreported amounts, the subscriptions thus far received indicate the necessity for the hardest kind of work on the part of the whole country for the balance of the campaign."

"The Secretary of the Treasury has requested subscriptions to an amount of $5,000,000,000 in order that allotments might be made up to $4,000,000,000."

"There are 24 business days during the campaign periods, and in order to obtain subscriptions of $5,000,000,000 the average daily subscriptions must amount to more than $208,000,000 per day, whereas up to date the average has been only about $36,000,000."

"It is particularly important to impress upon the people of the country that this vast undertaking must not be left to the people of great wealth."

NEW YORK TIES WORLD'S SERIES

Again Shuts Out Chicago White Sox, this Time by Decisive Score.

New York, Oct. 12—Swinging their war clubs like the cavemen of old, the New York Nationals battered their way to victory over the Chicago Americans here Thursday by a score of 5 to 0. As a result of the second defeat of the White Sox in two days, the Giants are on even terms with their rivals in the struggle for world series victory. The outcome of the battle for premier base ball honors is as much in doubt as before the series began in Chicago last Saturday. Each team now has won two contests and the indications point to a full seven-game drive before either club will admit the supremacy of the other.

The victory of the Giants in the fourth game was the most impressive of the struggle to date, for the National League color bearers excelled both in pitching and with the bat. While the Chicago combination threatened several times they never got a runner beyond third base and the American League team left for the shores of Lake Michigan without crossing the Polo Grounds home plate in eighteen innings.

Two new diamond heroes leaped to pedestals of fame in the clash under Coogan's Bluff for Ferdinand Schupp, of Louisville, Ky., turned the White Sox batters back without a run and Benny Kauff, of Middleport, Ohio, led the batting massacre with two home runs.

LUSITANIA WAS A DOOMED SHIP

Nine Bombs were Placed aboard and Submarine's Work was Unnecessary.

PLOTTERS ARE INDICTED

Seeking to Ascertain whether or not Bernstorff was Aware of Plot. Spoiled the Scheme.

New York, Oct. 12—Capt. Franz von Papen, former attache of the German Embassy in Washington, who is now in Europe, and 17 other men were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury. They are charged with placing bombs in the Lusitania and many other ships in 1915. Assistant United States Attorney James W. Osborne made a hasty presentation of the evidence to the grand jury, following the arrest Wednesday night of three of the alleged conspirators.

Nine T N T bombs, or "cigars", as they were called, had been placed in the Lusitania's hold just before she sailed on her last voyage in March, 1915.

This information was carried to the United States Attorney by Martin Ilgen, a German lawyer, who edits a department of a German newspaper in New York.

Spoiled Their Plan

Ilgen stated he was in the office of Dr. Karl Schimmel, at 51 Chambers street, when the news was flashed of the sinking of the Lusitania by a U-boat. Dr. Schimmel, he declared, rushed about the room tearing his hair and weeping. He quoted Dr. Schimmel as saying:

"The fool. He has ruined my work. I had nine 'cigars' planted on the Lusitania. They would have destroyed her before she reached Liverpool."

The authorities are seeking evidence to prove whether Count von Bernstorff, then German ambassador to the United States, knew of the planting of bombs in the Lusitania's hold when he sent advertisements to the newspapers warning Americans against sailing on her.

The police claim to have several confessions made by men who planted five bombs on the Lusitania and other ships. These confessions include details of the conspiracy meetings at which the bomb plots were planned.

The Plotters

Some of the conspiracy meetings were held, it is alleged, in the office of Dr. Schimmel, almost in the shadow of the chambers of the New York City Supreme Court justices. The plotters were even bold enough to store there a quantity of T N T, said by Captain Tunney, of the New York police department bomb squad, to be one of the most destructive and powerful of all explosives.

Those indicted yesterday were Capt. Franz von Papen, Dr. Walter C. Scheele, a former Brooklyn chemist, who is now in Mexico; Carl Schmidt, formerly chief engineer of the Friedrich der Grosse; Otto Walpert, Capt. von Kleist, Enno Bode, superintendent of a number of piers; Ernest Beebe, Fred Kaebade, George Preadel and Wilhelm Earadis, assistant engineers of the Frederick der Grosse; Wilhelm Klein, Eugene Reister, proprietor of the restaurant in the Germanic Masonic Temple at 220 East Twentieth street; Dr. Karl Schimmel, Joseph Zeffert, a printer, known as Peter the Jew; Walter Unde, listed as an alien enemy; Bonford Boniface and Capt. von Steinberg, of the German Army. The last named man was laid to Fritz von Rintelen, who is now located in the Tombs Prison.

Four of the indicted men were arraigned yesterday. Bail in the sum of $10,000 was fixed for Reister, Unde and Boniface. Zeffert was held in $8,000 bail.

MAY BE POISON PLOT

Military Authorities Arrest Student Aviator at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 12—Military authorities are said to be investigating an alleged plot to poison several hundred students at the government aeronautical school here. Samuel O. Livingood, a student at the school, in whose room a large quantity of poison crystals was said to have been found, is reported to have been arrested and taken to Governor's Island for court martial.

According to reports here, a roommate of Livingood was arrested at the same time, but since has been exonerated.

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, confirmed the report that poison had been found in Livingood's room. "Not two pounds, as at first reported," Dr. Hibben said, "but less than one pound." It was discovered, he said, wrapped in paper in the bottom of Livingood's trunk and was "sufficient to poison 3,000 or 4,000 men."

Pretty Nearly Every One can Help in this Way, Says Prominent Member of Conservation Committee.

This request is being circulated by Mr. Heinz of the Pennsylvania Food Conservation Committee:

"We have received a request from the French Government that we allow them to export from the United States one hundred thousand tons of sugar during the next month and probably more at a later period.

"Our own situation is that we have just sufficient sugar to maintain our normal consumption until the first of January when the new West Indian Crop becomes available to all.

"Our consumption is at the rate of ninety pounds per person per year, a little under four ounces per day per person.

"The French people are on a ration of sugar equal to only twenty one pounds per annum per person or at the rate of less than one single ounce per day per person, a little more than the weight of a silver dollar each day.

"The English and Italian rations are also not over one ounce per day.

"The French people will be entirely without sugar for over two months if we refuse to part with enough from our stocks to keep them supplied with even this small allowance as it is not available from any other quarter.

"Sugar even to a greater amount than the French ration is a human necessity.

"If our people will reduce by one-third their purchases and consumption of candy and of sugar for other uses than preserving fruit, which we do not wish to interfere with, we can save the French situation.

"In the interest of the French people and of the loyalty we owe them to divide our food in the maintenance of our common cause, I ask the American people to do this.

"It is unthinkable that we refuse their request.

"The matter is one of considerable seriousness and we hope you will do all you can locally to secure this end."

SHOOT CLERK

Masked Men Rob Express Company in Hoboken.

Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 12—Four masked robbers held up two Adams Express Company employees, shot one of them, Ernest Hecker, a clerk, in the back and escaped with money reported to amount to $6,000 here yesterday.

Shots were exchanged between the robbers and a policeman, who believed he succeeded in hitting one of the men. Several bags of valuables are missing from the company's loading station at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad yards, where the hold-up took place. Hecker was shot when he endeavored to close a safe after disobeying an order to throw up his hands. He is in a hospital, but his condition is not serious.

American, French, and German Attaches Come together in Engagement.

HAVE RISEN IN SERVICE

With the French Armies, Sept. 25 (By Mail)—When the victorious French poilu swept up the slopes of Morthomme recently the fortunes of war brought together on the same field of battle three generals, who as lieutenants had served together as military attaches with the Russian army in the Manchurian campaign.

One of these was General Corvisart, commanding the troops who wrested the final possession of Morthomme from the Germans. A second one was General Pershing, commanding the American Expeditionary Corps in France. The third one will be named later. During the Russian-Japanese war, half a dozen of the military attaches of the great powers met together and constituted practically a little family. All of them were lieutenants then.

When Corvisart and Pershing, both of whom have become generals since then, met by accident just before the second battle of Verdun, and renewed their old Manchurian acquaintance and friendship, General Corvisart invited General Pershing to witness the impending battle on the left bank of the Meuse from his own observatory. As the battle progressed the generals exchanged reminiscences and asked after other members of the old time mess.

General Pershing asked what had become of Lieutenant—the British member of their attaché mess, and was apprised that he had died with the rank of Colonel early in the present war.

Then a gleam of new interest suddenly came into General Pershing's face. "But Von Etzel" he asked "Lieutenant Etzel, the German attaché and member of our mess? What do you suppose has ever become of him?"

"Oh, Von Etzel" replied General Corvisart, with an even greater gleam of pleasure in his face. "Oh, he too is a general now." Then turning suddenly towards the battlefield he added, "and if you will look quickly Mon General, you will be just in time to see my victorious poilus chasing the tail end of General Von Etzel's army over the crest of Morthomme. General von Etzel, our former companion of the Manchurian mess, is the German General commanding in front of me."

PLACED MAYOR'S BAIL AT $10,000

Various Charges against him. Three Others Have Same Amount of Bail.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12—Mayor Thomas B. Smith yesterday was held in $10,000 bail by Judge Brown in the Municipal Court to await the action of the grand jury on six charges growing out of the murder by imported gunmen of a policeman in the Fifth Ward here on primary election day. The gunmen are alleged to have been brought here to intimidate voters and workers opposed to the faction favored by Mayor Smith and his political associates.

The charges against the Mayor include misbehavior in office; contempt of court in refusing to produce certain documentary evidence; violation of the Shern election law forbidding participation in politics by city employees; conspiracy to commit assault and battery; conspiracy to commit aggravated assault and battery, and conspiracy to commit murder.

Councilman also Held

Three other principal defendants, Isaac Deutsch, common councilman and defeated candidate for the nomination to select council; William E. Finley, mercantile appraiser and executive director of the Republican city committee, and David Bennett, a police lieutenant in the Fifth Ward, were also held under $10,000 bail each on the fourth last named charges and five policemen under Bennett, co-defendants, were each held under $5,000 bail.

In holding the Mayor, Judge Brown concurred with James Gay Gordon, chief counsel for the prosecution that the Mayor was the "prime malefactor in the political conspiracy." Counsel for the defense had no reply to make to the argument of Mr. Gordon, who flayed the Mayor mercilessly in summing up the evidence brought during the eight days the hearing has occupied and which, the prosecution contended, incriminated conclusively link by link all of those named by the conspiracy charges.

Triumph of Justice.

When we attack only injury, sooner or later we must triumph. In order to insure triumph, then, wish nothing but what is just. Respect the rights even of those who have trampled your rights under foot. Let the safety of liberty, the property of all, without exception be sacred in your eyes, for duty extends equally to all.—Lamenais.

Not Altogether Good.

Marion's aunt was a visitor at her home and Marion was a much admired and petted little girl. In a burst of affection her aunt said one day, "Marion, you're such a good little girl." But the sturdy youngster replied, "Sometimes I am and sometimes I don't."

Hang Watch at Night.

The care of the watch at night on when it is not in use is an important item, concerning which the United States Bureau of Standards states: "At night or when the watch is not in use it is desirable to leave the watch in the same position as during the day, and preferably in some place where it will not be subject to any great temperature change."

Trees Only Need Proper Care.

We hear much these days of tree surgery, but a late bulletin of the Missouri Botanical Gardens calls attention to the fact that if trees are properly planted, and cared for, there would never be need of tree surgery for disease, etc., but only for the necessary pruning to be done each year.

HAS ITS OWN FOREIGN LEGION

Mixture of Nationalities in American Company in France.

MAKE WELL-DRILLED SQUAD

Two Russians, Two Greeks, One Turk, One Swede and One Norwegian, headed by an Irish Drillmaster-Sergeant, make up the company's Jacob's Coat.

Company — of the — regiment infantry, of the American Expeditionary Force, has a Foreign Legion of its own. Two Russians, two Greeks, one Turk, one Swede and a Norwegian, headed by an Irish drillmaster-sergeant, make up the company's Jacob's coat.

None of the seven can speak English sufficiently well to drill with the company. Accordingly, Sergeant Murphy each day leads his squad to its own little parade grounds underneath some wide-spreading trees, and puts them through their paces.

"Sure they're nothin' to brag about when I only talk to them," said the sergeant, "but when I show them what's to be done, faith, sir, there's not a quicker set of lads in the whole company. I'm not braggin' mind you, but I'm only sayin' they're as fine a drilled squad as General Pershing has with him today."

"Take salutins," for instance. Some of these fresh rookies, just because once in a while they mistake one of you soldierly lookin' correspondents for an officer, and come to a neat salute, and some grizzly old campaigner gives them a merry ha ha, they grouch about for a day or more and salute no one. Then along comes the colonel in his auto and these bright young boys don't even deign to notice him and the company gets the devil in the morning.

Play It Safe.

"But these lads of mine, they say: 'What difference does it make anyhow, if you waste a salute or two; let's play it safe, and so everyone who comes strolling along, be it one of our long-earred friends from Missouri or a perfectly sweet little French lady, or even the general himself, sure it's heels at attention they are with as fine a military salute as any bloomin' Prussian ever gave the war lord."

"And where they make smart Sammy from Oshkosh look sharp is when one of these French instructors tells us in machine-fire French just what we are to do and why. No one understands him; but the seven tribes seem to sense the meaning and are the first to catch any new trick the Frenchies teach us."

"And they're learning English fast. Yesterday I heard Mike, the Greek, tell a Milwaukee corporal, 'Run after yourself. Me prouder shinea the shoe than make up German beer in de bot. Ain't dot your job at the brewery?'"

"This is the same boy who when he passed an officer on the street the first day after we had landed didn't know enough to salute, and the officer halted him and said, 'My man, how long have you been in the service?' Mike pulled himself together as best he could and smilingly replied, 'Tomorrow.' Sure, he didn't have an idea what the man was asking him."

No one can explain how the men ever were able to pass the recruiting officer with their meagre knowledge of English except that in the heat of the recruiting campaigns all was considered fish that came into the net.

There are numbers of men in the expeditionary force who have a higher sense of patriotism than they have knowledge of the English language.

One of the Russian giants whose unpronounceable name has been softened by his messmates to "Kansky" gave me as clear a reply to my question, "Why are you over here fighting in the American army?" as I received in the entire division.

Why He Fights.

Groping slowly for his words, he said: "I came to America seeking a liberty and freedom that was denied me in my own country. I found it the first day I landed in New York. It became the breath of my life. I got away from Russia after the war started. I could see no difference between a czar and a kaiser. There was nothing I wanted to fight for."

"But when America was forced into the struggle I saw it had finally narrowed itself down to what President Wilson pronounced it, a question whether democracy or autocracy should rule the world. My life has been a longing for personal liberty. I had finally tasted of it. I knew its sweetness and its value. I was ready to fight so that generations to come might have the opportunity to enjoy it unmolested. America must triumph if the world is to go forward and upward."

The ring of the missionary was in his voice; it vibrated with suppressed intensity. His language was the talk of books. He had chiseled it out of laborious reading. Better educated than his six fellows in arms, he was daily teaching them the rudiments of English grammar and American history.

Kansky is of the stuff that heroes are made. He is fighting for an ideal that is tangible and concrete to him. He will "go over the top" some day with an enthusiasm that will be irresistible. The American army needs more of his kind.

Quite Common Failing.

"De only bit some men does," said Uncle Eben, "is to talk a little bit, and then let others to do their bit."

FUEL FOR THE NAVY

A Mountain of Coal and a Sea of Oil Burned Up Yearly.

THE USE OF OIL IS GROWING.

It is More Efficient Than Coal, Effects a Saving in Fire Room Complement and is Cleaner to Handle—Coaling a Ship at Sea is Mean Work.

Figuratively speaking the United States navy consumes a mountain of coal and a sea of oil every year, and the full question might without levity be called a burning one with the naval officials at all times.

No navy in the world has given the problem of coal supply, coal capacity and speed in coaling ships more attention than has that of the United States.

Coal used by the navy department for our fleets comes from the bituminous regions of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. This coal is shipped from the mines to the coast, the principal tidewater ports on the Atlantic coast being Philadelphia, New York and Hampton Roads, Va. Government coilers carry the coal from these ports to the various coaling stations of the navy in Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic waters.

The chief coaling stations are at Bradford, in the state of Rhode Island; San Francisco; Honolulu, Cavite, P. I., and smaller stocks at Gubatano, Samoa and Guam. The supply at these stations is kept up to the required standard by frequent shipments from the Atlantic seaboard ports mentioned in naval coilers or in chartered merchant vessels.

The navy standard coal used by the American fleet meets the highest tests for steaming purposes, for it gives the largest percentage of "steaming radius" per given quantity of coal. The navy must have clean, dependable coal, for it means miles and, as far as possible, preservation of machinery.

Coaling at sea may well be called the nightmare of the navy. Every man on board, both officers and enlisted men, dreads it. Laborious, tedious and nasty, it is an unwelcome duty, to be performed as quickly as possible and then forgotten with fervent sighs of relief.

The coal is lifted from the collier's hold in huge buckets raised by derricks, which carry them to the warship's chutes, the coal being dumped in great piles on deck, whence it is shoveled by the men into the chutes. Trimmers down in the bunkers do their part in properly distributing it.

The work is heavy, dusty and dirty, and rolls, hot sausages and coffee are served to the men every two hours during coaling. To further stimulate them the ship's band often plays stirring airs.

When a warship is in port she is coaled from barges lying alongside, the coal being lifted by derricks in huge bays which hold 800 pounds of coal each. The battleship Arkansas can stow 2,754 tons of coal and the Texas 2,900 tons.

The use of fuel oil in the navy is increasing yearly and will continue to increase, as the new ships, especially the new dreadnaughts, consume oil, and more oil burners are planned for the future.

According to the navy department, there is much to be said in favor of oil. It effects a considerable reduction in fireroom complement. It is more efficient than coal in that 200 gallons of oil (two-thirds of a ton) do the work of one ton of good coal, and there is a great deal of refuse in coal (ashes, etc.), with much additional loss due to fine particles of coal going up the stacks unconsumed.

The United States navy has two oil supply ships, the Kanawha and the Maumee, each of them capable of making fourteen knots an hour and carrying 7,654 tons of fuel oil. Oiling a ship does away with much of the labor and all of the dirt so trying in coaling. In part the problem of pumping the oil from the huge tank on dock into the pipes on the side of the vessel is comparatively a simple one.

Supplying oil to a ship at sea, however, is not yet satisfactorily settled. Experiments in fueling ships at sea with oil form an important item in naval strategy at this time. Just what has been accomplished in this matter of experimentation may not yet be divulged.—Providence Journal.

Pageantry.

Dances and buttercups gave way to brown, waving grasses, tinged with the warm-red sorrel; the waving grasses are swept away and the meadows lie like emeralds set in the bushy hedgerows; the tawny-tipped corn begins to bow with the weight of the full ear; the reapers are bending amongst it and it soon stands in sheaves; then, presently, the patches of yellow stubble lie side by side with streaks of dark red earth, which the plow is turning up in preparation for the new-threshed seed.—George Elliot.

Philippine Begonias.

The Philippine Islands are very productive of begonias and a California begonia expert is responsible for the statement that of late some 60 species and varieties never known to commerce have of late been found in our far eastern insular possessions. It is feared, however, that all of these need tropical temperatures and, therefore, are only subjects for greenhouse culture.

Admitted the Truth.

Naomi was in the habit of crying when falling, whether hurting herself or not, and would wait for someone to come and pick her up. One day she fell down and began whimpering, but her mamma, not thinking her badly hurt, waited to see what she would do. Naomi looked around and, seeing no one coming, said, "Oh, shucks, I isn't hurt anyway, I see dess fussin'."

Hyomei Relieves Catarrh Without Dangerous Drugging of the Stomach.

Not until Hyomei was discovered has it been possible to truthfully say that a remedy for catarrh was known. This remedy is breathed through the Hyomei inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and during that time every particle of air taken into the air passages and lungs is impregnated with the germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei.

Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion and brings on some other disease and never makes a permanent cure for catarrh. Hyomei not only kills the germs in the throat and nose but penetrates to the minutest air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood. It frees the mucous membrane from the poisonous microbes and gives freedom from catarrhal troubles.

A complete outfit costs but little and includes an inhaler, dropper, and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Remember, that if Hyomei does not help you, People's Drug Store will refund your money.

TO OUR READERS

The Gettysburg Times takes absolutely no part in politics, being neutral on all such matters. Anything that appears in our general news columns, concerning state or national politics, is furnished us by The American Press Association, a concern which gives the same news to Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, or Socialist papers and which is strictly non-partisan.

IT SOLVES THE PROBLEM

The pulling power of Times advertisements is more recognized than ever before, due largely to the fact that merchants and persons not engaged in active business find them getting the results desired.

Rooms rented, lost articles found, second hand things sold, situations secured, vacant jobs filled, and numberless other things have been accomplished during the past few months, continuing the reputation The Times has had for years. And why shouldn't this paper produce such results? It has

Yes, that many persons read The Times every day. Our circulation is between 3550 and 3600. Accepted estimates place five persons to a house and all newspaper authorities say that five persons read every paper sold. At that rate it is seen that almost 18,000 pairs of eyes scan the columns of The Times every day. But it must also be remembered that it is fair to estimate that the

Just now it has been boosted to 46,000 by the big camp, and hundreds of the troops read The Times every evening in Y. M. C. A. tents, recreation rooms, barber shops and stores. They read its advertising columns, too, and merchants have found this paper a good way to reach the soldier boys.

MANY AUSTRIANS DYING OF HUNGER

Medical Records Show That Deaths Are Caused by Famine Conditions.

FISH SUPPLY IS SHORT

Seafaring Males Are Called to Fight and Incompetents Fill Boats—Speeches in Parliament Reveal Appalling Conditions.

Rome.—There is now no further doubt about the desperate economic conditions in Austria, where people are actually dying of hunger. Deaths from starvation are medically attested, and the certificates of the district medical officers cannot be kept secret, as they must be produced by the relatives of the deceased person to the local authorities in order to have the body buried without an inquest and a post-mortem examination. The Arbeiter Zeitung recently published a facsimile of the certificate of death of a laborer named B. Hauptig, native of Reichenberg in Bohemia, whose body was found in a field.

The district medical officer of Kratzau attested that the man had died of hunger. Similar certificates have from time to time been published in provincial papers, but as a rule the great majority remain unknown. Moreover doctors often use the expression "nervous exhaustion" to explain deaths from hunger, and thus to a certain extent appearances are saved. The fact remains, however, that people are starving to death in Austria, and evidence of the appalling economic conditions is afforded by two speeches delivered in parliament by Deputy Bianchini of Dalmatia and the German Socialist Renner of Vienna.

Dalmatians Aroused.

Deputy Bianchini, who despite his Italian name is a Croatian and noted for his loyalty to Austrian rule, openly accused the military authorities of despoiling the Dalmatians of everything and condemning them to starvation. "All our fishermen have been called to the colors," he said, "and if some of them were sent home and provided with boats, ropes and nets they would provide enough fish for the population. It is useless to send Hungarian fishermen who know the sea by heart and cannot fish. The military authorities have even requisitioned salt from Dalmatia, with the result that even when fish is plentiful it cannot be salted and kept for the winter. Another mistake committed by the authorities has been the wholesale requisitioning of oil. Oil is indispensable as an article of food to Dalmatians, as it replaces every kind of fat. Besides, like salt, oil is needed to preserve fish and vegetables. The people are suffering tortures from lack of oil. Dentrition has reduced them to skeletons, and now in many districts of the province a terrible unknown epidemic is raging, which the doctors attribute to lack of oil and fat. This epidemic is most violent. Its main symptom is a sudden swelling of the feet, which in most cases is followed by death within twenty-four hours.

"Live stock has been requisitioned without any system in Dalmatia. Horses, mules and oxen have been sent to Serbia, Montenegro and Albania for military transport and men over fifty years old and boys of twelve and fourteen were sent as drivers, and few of them ever returned. The Austrian army has been fed with beef from Dalmatia to such an extent that the 110,000 head of oxen existing before the war have now fallen to less than 30,000.

Bread and Meat Scarce.

"Bread is even more scarce than meat in Dalmatia. The wheat grown in the province is hardly sufficient to feed the population for two months in normal times, yet all the wheat has been requisitioned and paid for so low that the farmers lost money besides being starved. The bread now supplied is of such an inferior quality that it cannot be eaten even by starving people.

"As food is scarce and dear it is no exaggeration to say that before long a regular famine with all its terrible consequences will inevitably follow in Dalmatia."

Deputy Renner denounced the hopeless economic conditions in Austria. "I do not appeal to the crown, to the government and to parliament as national institutions, but I speak as man to men and appeal to your intelligence and to your hearts," he said. "While we are talking here people outside are dying of hunger. We deplore that some provinces are worse off than others and debate as to whether the middle classes are suffering more than the lower ones, and yet all the people are desperate. The bread ration is insufficient, but what is worse the minimum fixed for each person often cannot be had, and more often still the distribution of bread is irregular."

"All the members of the Austrian parliament, even those who support the government and are bent on resistance to the very end, denounced the hopeless economic situation, and even when optimistic they admitted that the war could not be prolonged more than three months without risking a regular famine.

SAGE TEA DARKENS
HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

THE PEOPLE WANT HIGH PRICES

We had to put our 8 cent flannel to 12 cents, now it goes, factory price is 20 cents. We put all our 20 cent pack coffee to 25 cents, now they go. The people do not wish to save 25 cents on the dollar. We have $650.00 worth of men's and women's heavy winter shoes, at half price that the factory is now asking. We must put them up, then they will move. We have 25 pair of men's heavy winter pants, moving at from $2 to $2.50 per pair, $4 to $5, everywhere else. We must soon make a big jump on these. A few new gums. Dr. Hudson's Improved Liquid Conditioner, Victor Liver Syrup all sizes. Chamberlain's Remedy, Handford's Balsam of Myrrh all sizes, at old prices, far below the manufacturer's prices. Don't delay.

HARVARD MEN IN HAIL OF BOMBS

Show Rare Pluck When Hospital
Is Attacked by German Airmen.

4 KILLED AND 32 WOUNDED

Major Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner, Cables Full Details of Disaster to H. P. Davison—Show
Speed in Emergency.

Washington.—The manner in which the Harvard unit's base hospital in France was attacked by a German airplane, with the result that several Americans were killed and wounded, was described in detail in a long cable message received here by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the American Red Cross war council, from Maj. Grayson M. Murphy, Red Cross commissioner in Europe. The message follows:

"An American Red Cross inspector who has just returned to headquarters in Paris has brought from the United States army base hospital unit of Harvard university, one of the many similar institutions on the surgical supply list of the American Red Cross, a detailed narrative of the bombing of that hospital on the night of September 4 last, and of the characteristic pluck and promptness with which the emergency was met. Five bombs were thrown, the explosions instantly killing Lieut. William F. Fitzsimons of the Medical Officers' Reserve corps, United States army, and three army privates, and wounded Lieuts. Clarence A. McGuire, Thaddeus D. Smith and Rea W. Whidden, O. R. C., U. S. A.; six privates, a woman nurse and 22 patients from the British lines who were under treatment there for wounds.

Attack Occurred at Night.

"The airplane attack occurred at 11 o'clock at night. Just at that time fortunately no convoy of wounded was being received or the list of casualties would have been far greater, as one of the bombs fell into the center of the large reception tent to which the wounded are first borne for examination. Ten seconds suffered for the dropping of the bomb from the first flying plane, and within less than a minute afterward the surgeons of the hospital were at the task of collecting and attending those who had been struck down. And for 24 hours they were at work in the operating room, one surgeon relieving another when the latter, from simple exhaustion, could work no longer. The very next day, just as if nothing had happened, these same surgeons were called upon to receive and care for 200 wounded sent in from the trenches of the British expeditionary force.

"The hospital, which is on the French coast, has 1,800 beds, and is under canvas in a quadrangle 800 feet square. It is in a district in which there are many similar institutions and is unmistakable as a hospital. At the time the German aviator flew over it most of the surgical staff was engaged in making rounds of the wards. Lieutenant Fitzsimons, however, was standing at the door of his tent. There had been a brief warning of the presence of a bombing airplane in the neighborhood, because a quarter of a minute before the sound of exploding bombs was heard from a point perhaps 200 yards from the hospital. This warning sufficed to cause all lights in the tents to be extinguished immediately, and those who had been under fire before threw themselves face down upon the ground.

"Then came five explosions in rapid succession in the hospital itself. The first two were directly in front of Lieutenant Fitzsimons' tent. He probably never knew what happened to him, as his body was torn to shreds. The next two fell a hundred feet beyond, in a ward in which there were many patients, and the last struck the reception tent. Overhead there was no sound. The German aviator flew too high to be heard, but he left his identity behind him, not only in the bombs he dropped, but in the derisive handful of pennings he scattered upon the hospital as he whirled away. A number of these were found when light came.

Hit by Bomb Fragments.
"Lieutenant McGuire, who was in a tent adjoining that of Lieutenant Fitzsimons, was struck by three bomb fragments, but was not seriously wounded. His escape was narrow, as there were more than a hundred holes cut in his tent. Lieutenant Smith was struck in the knee and Lieutenant Whidden in the chest while in their tents in the office section of the quadrangle. The private soldiers injured were on duty as orderlies in the reception tent, and the bomb fell almost upon them. So severely was Private Aubrey S. McLeod injured that it was necessary to amputate both his legs.

"Although the explosion of the bombs caused horror in the hospital, there was not the smallest sign of panic, and the work of discovering the wounded and collecting them was immediately begun. This was made doubly difficult by the darkness, but everyone sprang to it with a will. Many of the injured had been blown from their cots, some even outside their tents, where they were found tangled up in the tent poles. The American nurse, although struck in the face by a fragment of steel from the bomb, refused to be relieved, and remained at her task courageously to the end. A hospital orderly who worked untiringly was found later to have been struck in the head by a fragment and painfully injured. He had just tied up his head and gone on.

"In the operating room Capt. Horace Binney and Elliott with their assistants worked all night. Several delicate operations were performed and their task was made all the harder by the fact that innumerable cases the patients were in serious danger of infection from the pieces of wood and nails and dirt which had been blown into their bodies.

"Lieut. Col. E. U. Pattison, U. S. A., commanding officer of the unit, and Maj. Harvey Cushing, head of the surgical force, the latter being at the front at the time of the disaster, have expressed the highest admiration for the manner in which the emergency was met. Latest reports are that the condition of the wounded is progressing satisfactorily."

Sunday Spurred the Offer.

George Sunday, eldest son of Billy Sunday, said in New York a short time ago:

"My father's finances are always talked about when he comes to a city. I handle his accounts. He gets only what is offered him for his services on the last day of his campaign, and this isn't as big as it looks, for much of it goes to charity and to the maintenance of his organization.

"This very day I declined on my father's behalf an offer of $1,000,000 from a moving picture concern; he refused $350,000 for five days' work in the movies; he has refused countless offers from firms who make talking records. My father has always and sincerely refused to commercialize Christ."

Why Stones Cannot Burn Like Coal.
Stones cannot burn for the simple reason that they are dead matter which has burned out. When anything burns it takes into its system all the oxygen of the air that it can combine with. When it has done this it cannot be burned any more. In burning any substance changes its character.

The original element of most of the rocks and stones we see was silicon, and when that combines with oxygen the result is a form of rock, a concrete substance, but unburnable.

Naturally.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SNAPPY SALADS.

CHICKEN MAYONNAISE.—Cut one cooked chicken into neat joints. Mix one-half cupful of liquid aspic jelly with one cupful of mayonnaise dressing, and when beginning to set coat the chicken joints with it, giving them several layers until a good covering is obtained. Wash and dry one large lettuce, break into small pieces and place some in the center of a dish. Place the chicken on this, piling it as high as possible. Put a border of lettuce around the dish and garnish with chopped aspic jelly and two hard cooked eggs cut in slices or quarters.

Russian Salad.—This is a hearty supper dish. Cut in tiny squares one cupful cold boiled potatoes, mix with a cupful of the heart of cabbage cut fine and a cupful of English walnuts or peanuts. Mix with some cream dressing, put on lettuce leaves, sprinkle with a half teaspoonful celery seed and decorate with radishes.

Queen Fruit Salad.—Soak three-quarters of package of gelatin in one-half pint of water thirty minutes, add two cupfuls of sugar and one pint of boiling water and let dissolve, juice of two lemons, two oranges, two bananas, eight to ten figs, a few dates, twenty English walnuts. After the gelatin begins to harden add the fruit, cut in small pieces and stir a little. Pineapple is also nice in addition. Pour into mold and when stiff turn out and serve with cream or cheese salad dressing. This is very rich and certainly delicious.

Beets on Artichoke Bottoms Stuffed With Salad.—Drain one can of artichoke bottoms. Cut neat cases from long boiled beets and fill each one with egg salad. Chill and serve on the artichoke bottoms with French dressing.

To make egg salad cut four hard cooked eggs in slices crosswise. Cut eight radishes in crosswise slices. Marinate each with French dressing, then mix together and use.

Share Your Pleasures.
It has been said that happiness which has not been shared has no taste. If the pleasant things which come to you, somehow seem to have no taste, if they seem rather flavorless, perhaps this is the explanation. Put gladness into another's life, divide up the pleasures you have been selfishly enjoying, so that it will help two or three, and your happiness will have plenty of flavor.

An Empire Nightgown for the Autumn Bride.

Hand-embroidered night-gown developed in soft batiste upon Empire lines. The waist has an extension that forms a peplum.

She may make it for herself or some friend may present it as a gift, but in either case the Fall bride would be delighted with this Empire night-gown. It is made of soft batiste, the waist having an extension that forms a peplum. The low round neck makes it possible to slip the gown on over the head and although the illustration shows the design as sleeveless, a sleeve cap may be added, if desired. Embroidered scallops finish the neck, armholes and peplum, the front being embroidered with a simple design in solid satin and eyelet stitches. In medium size the gown requires 4½ yards 36-inch material, with 1½ yards heading; 2 yards wide ribbon for belt and 1½ yard narrow ribbon.

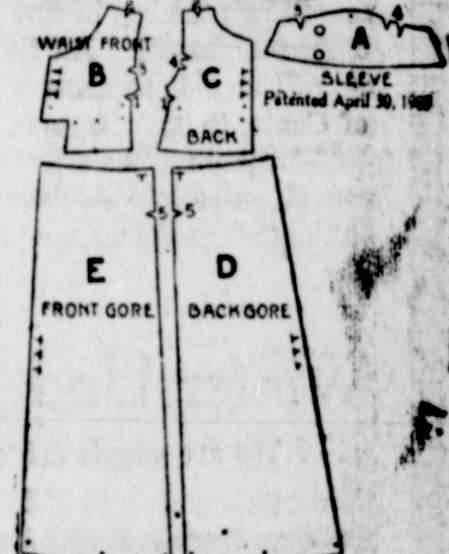

If trimmed with embroidery the needlework should be done before the material is cut. To make the waist, close the underarm and shoulder seams as notched. If the sleeve is to be added, sew it in armhole as notched and bring small "o" perforation at upper edge of sleeve to shoulder seam and opening in sleeve to underarm seam. Hold the sleeve toward you when basting it in the armhole.

Take the skirt, next and join the gores as notched. Turn the hem at the lower edge on small "o" perforations. Gather the upper edge between "T" perforations; sew underneath waist along upper small "o" perforations in front and back with center-fronts and center-backs even and with side seam of skirt at underarm seam. Stitch a band of beading

CONSTRUCTION GUIDE, 7422

1½ inch wide on outside of waist with upper edge of band along upper line of small "o" perforations in front and back, draw ribbon through and tie in front as pictured. Work eyelets one inch from neck and draw ribbon through eyelets.

The peplum may be omitted, if desired, as the plain Empire effect is really pleasing.

Many materials are used in the development of night-gowns nowadays, milanese silk, tub satin, China silk and silk and cotton crepe being in smart design. Colors are in great vogue, sharing favor with white.

DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT STORE

Winter Wearables

How is the continuance of the war going to affect future prices on DRY GOODS for this Winter?

With many stores it has not been so much the matter of price as it has been to get the goods. We have a full stock with ample variety, and with prices lower on many lines than we can replace the same goods for today, if we can get them at all.

Many of our customers have availed themselves of the opportunity of large choice and lower than present market prices. Everybody is seemingly willing to pay the advances we have to charge because they have the money. When goods are cheap, money is usually scarce.

Women's Clothes

Manufacturers are daily voicing complaints of the scarcity and high price of labor—which greatly curtails their output—that, with the general scarcity and vaulting prices of fabrics, makes for much higher prices on manufactured goods and but for the fact of our early contracts we should be short of goods now; there are new things coming in every day from these early purchases. All through the season we will be able to show a good assortment of Coats, Suits, Dresses, Skirts & Waists—Yet there will be a dwindling of choice from the complete stocks of to-day as many of the things shown now cannot be replaced.

Winter Underwear

We are supplied for the present in all weights and sizes of MUNSING WEAR for Men, Women & Children—as also other good lines. Prices are somewhat higher than a year ago—yet not as high as they will be later—if the goods can be had at all. It is a money saving proposition as well as getting what you want if you give attention to the buying for your Winter needs from our stock now.

DRESS GOODS and SILKS

FANCY AND PLAIN SILKS in all colors and wanted weaves.

WOOL AND COTTON GOODS for Dresses, Coats, Skirts, &c., in greatest variety, at less than the market prices of today.

Purchased by The Government

By ETHEL HOLMES

Abel Hawkins was an inventor. He made several very valuable inventions; but, not having the capital to put them on the market, he was obliged to confide his secret to capitalists. As soon as the capitalists got the secret they found a pretext to use the invention without paying a royalty to the inventor. Finally Hawkins determined that if he made another invention he would keep his secret until he had secured a legal contract for the manufacture of the article in question.

The next thing he invented was a powerful explosive. He offered it to the United States government and was referred to several ordnance officers who would witness a demonstration. Hawkins made some of the explosive, fired it from a cannon and sent a hundred pound shot farther than one had ever been sent before. So pleased were the officers with the test that they recommended the purchase of the inventor's secret at once.

At that time, July 1, 1914, the government was troubled to find work for the few soldiers it had. They were called upon to do civil work in emergencies. The president called the soldier the nation's handy man, meaning, for instance, that if a flood came and destroyed a town the soldier could put up tents and otherwise provide for the sufferers. As to fighting, he was not expected to hurt any one; his duty was only to succor. The consequence was that Abel Hawkins' invention was pigeonholed in the war department, there being no use for it.

Hawkins died suddenly on July 30, 1914, the day the European war broke out. Had he been alive to intrust his secret to any one it would have suddenly become very valuable. He had written his secret in cipher, but had left no key to the cipher.

He left a widow and a daughter, Ethel, seventeen years old. Ethel explored a tin box in which her father had kept what few valuable papers he possessed and there found the cipher. It was a string of words without any meaning. Ethel saw at a glance that she would not be able to translate it. There was a chance that a chemist might do so, for there were in it a large number of chemical terms. But Ethel did not dare show it to a chemist for fear he would steal the secret. She had her father's want of confidence in his fellow beings.

Besides, she saw no probability of selling the invention to any but a foreign government, and she had no means to go abroad and reach any of the powers at war. Therefore she put the cipher back in the tin box and took it out only once in the next two years to show to Oliver Steadman, a young man to whom she was engaged.

Meanwhile Germany began to sink ships, and Uncle Sam began to grow wrathful. Oliver Steadman advocated trying to do something with the invention, but since the United States was not at war he received no encouragement, even if the cipher could be interpreted. It seemed hard that so valuable a process should not be utilized, but there was no help for it.

Then came the breaking of relations with Germany, followed by a declaration of war on the part of the United States.

One day a message came to her mother in an envelope bearing the stamp of the postoffice of Hongkong, China. It was from the postmaster of that city, who wrote that there was a letter in his office held for postage and had been thus held for a long while. The letter had been mailed at San Francisco, addressed to Mrs. Abel Hawkins, New York city, via Tokyo, Japan, Hongkong, Aden, Port Said, Gibraltar. If she would send the necessary stamps he would forward the letter.

None of the parties concerned could see why any such letter should have been sent in this roundabout manner. However, the expense of getting it being small it was decided to send the money to secure it.

Meanwhile the government of the United States was getting ready to kill as many Germans as possible and was looking for an explosive that would carry a shell further than any possessed by their enemies. Some one in the war department ran upon a report of the test made of Abel Hawkins' explosive and sent him a formal request to come to Washington. Hawkins, not having lived long enough for the United States to need his invention, could not respond, but his daughter went in his stead. She received an offer of a million dollars from the government for the cipher formula and accepted it at once. But no one was found to interpret it, and the government was out a million.

Not long after this the letter from Hong Kong was received, and it contained the key to the cipher in question. Hawkins had chosen this original method to lock up his secret for a length of time.

The government offered Ethel Hawkins another million for the key and she was tempted to teach a lesson, but honesty prevailed, and she turned over the key gratis.

Some months after this some one in Washington stumbled on the report of the test made of Hawkins' invention and, not knowing that $1,000,000 had already been paid for the secret, offered another $1,000,000 for it. Ethel wrote that she would not know what to do with any more money and made the government a present of the secret. The patriotic gift was telegraphed at once to all the newspapers in the country.
